Jack H. Lutz

Iowa State University
(Professor, Department of Mathematics | Professor, Department of Computer Science)

"PASSING HILBERT'S FINAL TEST"

We review recent developments in which computability-theoretic dimensions of individual points have been used to answer open questions in classical geometric measure theory, questions whose statements do not involve computability theory or logic.

January 31st | 3-5 pm | SST 777